

MOVING TO THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

A Guide to Help You Move to Bethesda, Frederick, and Baltimore

December 2012

This document is intended for informational purposes only and does not constitute advice. These materials do not provide an inclusive list of all companies and/or services available. Inclusion of companies and/or services in this list does not imply approval, endorsement or support of these companies and/or services by the National Institutes of Health, the Department of Health and Human Services or the United States Government. There are many links here to other Internet sites, and are provided strictly for the convenience of site visitors. OITE is not responsible for the availability or content of these external sites, nor does OITE endorse, warrant or guarantee the products, services, or information described or offered at these other Internet sites. During your visit to this guide, your browser may produce pop-up advertisements. These advertisements were most likely produced by other Web sites you visited or by third party software installed on your computer. OITE does not endorse or recommend products or services that may appear as pop-up advertisements on your computer screen while visiting our site.

MOVING TO THE NIH

Table of Contents

General Information: Moving to the Baltimore-Washington Corridor	3
Moving to Washington DC.....	11
Moving to Maryland	18
Montgomery County.....	18
Frederick	24
Baltimore	27
Moving to Virginia.....	33

General Information: Moving to the Baltimore-Washington Corridor

Welcome to the NIH! The main campus of the National Institutes of Health is located just a few miles outside of Washington DC, the nation's capital and home to over half a million people. DC is also located between the Appalachian Mountains, the Atlantic Ocean, and the Chesapeake. Over 2/3 of the US population is within 8 hours of the DC metro area, providing DC residents with access to a wealth of cultural, educational, and recreational opportunities. New York, Boston, and Chicago are all within a day's drive, as is the Canadian border.

The main NIH campus in Bethesda, Maryland is home to over 18,000 employees who work on numerous biomedical, biophysical, and psychological issues. You will be part of a large community of researchers, fellows, and employees who are striving to improve medical research, training, and care throughout the world. You will also be part of a larger community of Federal employees and trainees who are working in the DC area.

As a result of its central location and its being the headquarters for the Federal government, as well as any number of government-funded and government-sponsored agencies, embassies, and non-profit organizations, the DC area population is both politically charged and transient. People move in and out every few years, generating a mix of ethnicities, nationalities, stages of life, socioeconomic classes, and so on. If you are looking for a place that has a variety of cultures and living styles, DC is the right place.

DC area housing ranges from older, larger homes to condominium high rises. The cost of living increases with proximity to public transportation, the type of neighborhood, and accessibility to the downtown area. As a result, housing in Maryland and Northern Virginia is generally less expensive and provides a more suburban feel. Such areas also tend to have more public services, shopping and recreation options, and lower taxes. Public transportation including metro, Amtrak, and bus in the city is excellent. A car is often necessary if you choose to live in suburban area, however, in the metro area a car can sometimes be cumbersome, as parking is not always easy and is rarely cheap. Rents vary widely based not only on the above listed factors but also on the crime rate, school quality, and age of the neighborhood. Links that will help you access these statistics are included in this guide.

The purpose of this document is to help make your transition to the NIH as easy and stress-free as possible. We cannot anticipate meeting every demand you might have, but this guide will hopefully help you through the major adjustments you will need to make on relocating to this area. Information is also provided on campuses in Baltimore and Frederick. If you are moving to another area, such as Phoenix, Rocky Mountain Labs, or NIEHS, contact your program coordinator for information on adjusting to the location, as well as any resources they may have regarding finding housing, employment, schooling, transportation, and so forth.

We are delighted that you are joining the NIH and hope that your time with us is as productive, educational and enjoyable as possible!

Airports

There are three major airports in the DC Metro area: Baltimore/Washington International Thurgood Marshall Airport \(BWI\), Washington Dulles International Airport \(IAD\), and Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport \(DCA\).

BWI and IAD both accommodate international flights. They are equipped with customs and immigration facilities. Both airports are usually larger, and often feature longer runways and facilities to accommodate the large aircraft commonly used for international or intercontinental travel. International students or fellows can choose either one for their moves to the area. BWI and IAD also host domestic flights (flights which occur within the country), to serve travellers to and from these regions of the country.

BWI is located about 35 miles from downtown DC and a few miles outside of Baltimore. There is hourly, daily, express service, and long term parking within the immediate area. Public transportation is also available. A free shuttle takes passengers to the Airport Rail Station, which has two rail services, Amtrak and MARC. Both Amtrak and MARC provide service to Union Station in Washington DC and to New Carrollton, MD. Both Union Station and New Carrollton have access to the Washington DC public transportation system (Metro). The Maryland Light Rail Service is available to downtown Baltimore, Timonium, and Hunt Valley from BWI Marshall Airport. The Metro provides direct service to by to BWI via the BWI Express Metrobus \(Route B30\) which runs every 40minutes to the Greenbelt Metro station on the Green Line of the Washington metro system. Howard Transit (Silver Route) provides fixed route bus service from BWI to Columbia mall. Intercounty Connector, ICC Bus Route 201 operates between BWI and the Gaithersburg Park and Ride lot located at I-270 and MD 124 in Montgomery Count. BWI Airport Taxi is also available. One way fare to downtown DC is approximately $60 and up.

Dulles is located in Chantilly, Virginia, approximately 28 miles from downtown DC. Hourly, daily, long-term, and valet parking are available. Metrobus operates an express bus service (Route 5A) between Dulles Airport and Washington DC (L'Enfant Plaza Metro station), stopping at the Herndon-Monroe Park and Ride Lot, the Tysons-Westpark Transit Station and the Rosslyn metro station. Within Loudoun County in Virginia, Virginia Transit offers hourly service on weekdays between the airport and the Dulles Town Center. The Washington Flyer Coach Service travels between Dulles and the Metro West Falls Church Station every 30 minutes ($10 one way). Taxicabs are also available; Advance reservations are not needed. One way fare to downtown DC is approximately $50 and up.

Reagan National is located in Arlington, Virginia, approximately 5 miles from the center of DC. Hourly, daily, and long-term parking are available. Metrorail has its own stop for the airport on the Blue and Yellow Lines, connected to the concourse level of terminals B and C at National Airport. Shuttles run between the Metro station and the main Terminal A. Metrobuses also connect the airport metro station to the National Mall, Pentagon, Crystal city, and Arlington National Cemetery. Rental Cars are available on site: Advantage, Alamo, Avis, Budget, Enterprise, Hertz and National. Taxi fare is approximately $15 one-way to downtown DC. Amtrak and Greyhound also serve this airport.

The NIH Airport Shuttle Bus also provides transportation to and from airports every 2-3 hours from Monday to Friday, Sunday and some holidays. Visit for XXXXXX the detailed information about BWI shuttle, Dulles shuttle, and Reagan National shuttle.

Other transportation to and from airports is also offered by chauffeur services and SuperShuttle. SuperShuttle is a door-to-door shared ride van service that will transport you and your luggage to the airport for a flat rate. Rates vary according to distance to the airport. The Airport Shuttle and GO Airport Shuttle are other door-to-door airport shuttle services servicing the DC metro area.

Banking

There are local and national banks with offices located in Washington DC, and the surrounding cities in both Virginia and Maryland. There are national banks that provide services almost exclusively online. Companies providing such services include ING Direct, Chase and E*TRADE. There are advantages and disadvantages to using such a service; look into it fully before you decide where to keep your money. You can find the location of any bank you are interested in through this link for banks near Washington, DC.

Additionally, the NIH offers its own credit union, NIH Federal Credit Union (NIHFCU), available for free to NIH employees and trainees and their families. NIHFCU offers a variety of low-rate consumer loans, credit cards, mortgages, and home equity loans in addition to secured interest-bearing savings, checking, and investment accounts. NIHFCU maintains automated teller machines (ATMs) both on campus and in the surrounding communities. The NIHFCU also provides educational seminars, newsletters, and Internet articles to give members helpful financial information.

Employment

If you or your family members are searching for a job in your new location, there are many internet resources that can provide helpful information. Some major national websites that provide job listings for many different types of employment include Careerbuilder, Careers.org, CareerJet.com, The Vault, Craiglist.com, Monster.com, and Yahoo Careers. For medical or biotech jobs specifically, MedZilla offers employment listings at a variety of major employers. Also explore the Mid-Atlantic HERC.

Local newspapers are also a good source of information regarding area jobs, such as the Washington Post, the Washingtonian, Express, Gazette, and Sun Gazette.

The Department of Labor is a good resource, not only for job searching, but also for information on other career fields. This includes average salaries and job projections for many different fields in the next several years. The Occupational Outlook Handbook also provides information on different jobs, such as training and education, earnings, and expected job prospects.

Finding Housing

Temporary housing:

There are a variety of temporary housing options depending on your needs: extended stays at hotels, corporate apartments, sublease apartment, furnished apartments for rent — even privately-owned houses, condos and vacation properties.

There are many different hotels you can choose for short-term living which are close to NIH, on the NIH shuttle route and have walking distance to metro stations (NIH Clinical Center: Hotels and Motels).

Rent apartment or house:

In addition to Craigslist.com, there are many other national websites that provide information on apartments for rent throughout the country. The following list is by no means inclusive and you should use the Internet and other resources at your disposal to continue your search for quality, affordable housing: MyCheapApartments.com, Apartment Ratings, Apartment Guide, Apartments.com, Apartment Search, Apartmentlist.com, Rent.com, and zillow.com. You can also take a look at Georgetown University's Guide to Off-Campus Living. This is a great resource designed for Georgetown students, but it contains great information on housing options, tenant rights, sample leases, and other information useful to anyone renting in the Metro area. Other residences nearby include the Battery Lane Apartments (walking distance from campus), the Bethesda Row Condos, and the Congressional Towers (which accommodate short-term leases), located near the Twinbrook Metro Station.

There are many factors to keep in mind when renting, especially when renting a home. These include whether or not the rent can be raised during the lease, who has access to the home, how utilities are handled, who to contact for maintenance, if you are allowed to sublet, and who controls the heat and air conditioning, how friendly the neighborhood is and the secure of the environment.

Buying House

The area surrounding the NIH boasts some of the finest neighborhoods and best addresses in the country. As the Nation's capital, the Washington D.C. metropolitan area is a unique and vibrant city with locations to please anyone. The following is merely an introduction to six of the area's neighborhoods. Whether you are looking for a suburban home where you can walk your kids to premier schools or an urban apartment in the heart of the city, the D.C. metro area has it all. Please review the following neighborhoods of NIH:

District of Columbia
Montgomery County \(MD\)
Frederick County \(MD\)
Ann Arundel County \(MD\)
Arlington County \(VA\)
Falls Church \(VA\)

Alexandria (VA)
Fairfax County (VA)

If you are looking to buy a home, some major realtors include Long and Foster, Coldwell Banker, Century 21, National Association of Realtors, Capitol Creag, LLC, Weichert, and Re/Max. For information on housing specifically in Virginia, the Virginia Association of Realtors maintains listings and information on the state's real estate market. You can use their or another real estate company's services or find a home on your own (Zillow.com). Many newspapers and online housing sites also provide lists of homes for sale.

One other thing to consider is a cost of living change between your current location and your final destination. There are multiple online cost-of-living calculators to help you assess what changes you can expect in prices and costs, as well as what sort of change in your salary is necessary to maintain your current standard of living. Websites such as CNN Money, Salary.com, and BankRate.com provide information on cost-of-living differences between major US metropolitan areas. HomeFair.com and the Riley guide also provide information on relocating, including cost of living and salary calculators, moving companies, and reports on local schools.

Shopping

The Washington, DC area has a number of great neighborhoods for shopping. Throughout the region you'll find multiple storefronts of the large national retail stores such as Barnes and Noble, Best Buy, Bed Bath & Beyond, Gap, Old Navy, etc. If you know where to look, you will also find plenty of unique stores and shopping venues. Here is a guide to help you find the best neighborhoods for shopping in Washington, DC, Maryland, and Northern Virginia.

Shopping malls and shopping centers

Washington, DC Shopping
Maryland Shopping
Northern Virginia Shopping

More about shopping in the Washington, DC area

Outlet Shopping Malls Near DC
Museum Gift Shops in Washington, DC
Washington, DC Gifts and Souvenirs

Grocery Stores

There are many specialized, local grocery stores throughout the Washington DC area since a great diversity of people from around the world are living here. All These are only some of the main grocery chains in the area: Albertsons, Bloom, Costco, Food Lion, Giant, Great Wall supermarket, Harris Teeter, Hmart, Lotte Plaza, Magruders, My Organic Market, Safeway, Sam's Club, Shoppers, Trader Joe's, Wegmans, Whole Foods Market, World Market. For more information on local grocery stores, stores featuring a particular type of food item, specialty food store, or farmers markets, you can use a Google search, About.com or check your local phone directory.

Places of Interest

You can also use a Google search to find places of interest. Go to Google Maps and type in your address. From there you can click on “Find businesses” and then locate places of interest in your area by typing in a keyword describing what you are looking for (library, Museum, etc.). You can also search for directions to a particular location by clicking on “Get directions” and entering the address or cross street of your destination. There are multiple other websites that also provide this information. Some major websites include the Washington Post and the Washingtonian magazine. While these focus on what to do in the DC area, they also provide information about events in the surrounding areas. The Internet also has a wealth of independent resources discussing things to do in the DC area that may be of interest. You can find the detailed information from Places of Interest Guide in DC , Maryland place of interest Virginia Places : Attractions and Places to Visit which offers visitors the opportunity to visit many other places of interest including parks, farms, gardens and historic and entertainment venues.

Post Offices

To find a post office in your area, visit the United States Postal Service website and click on “Locate a Post Office.” You can find the information about your area, including the basic demography information, area code, zip code, and a map of the area. You can also use this website to purchase postage, track packages, find zip codes, and change your address. FedEx and UPS also offer shipping services.

Religious community

More than 60% of the people in Washington, DC are religious, meaning they affiliate with a religion. They are Baptist, Catholic, Episcopal, Jewish, Latter Day Saints, Lutheran, Methodist, Non/ Inter Denominational, Presbyterian, Seventh-Day Adventist and so on. You can easily find the community you want to join using Metroweekly.com. You can also search via Google or Mapquest for places of worship located near you. The following links provide you with lots of helpful information. (<http://capitolhilldc.com/religious-community.html>)

Statistics and Safety

For statistics on anything from cancer rates, crime, education, energy, economics, health, employment statistics and the environment, the Federal government maintains a reliable updated website of statistics. It is searchable by area and includes international comparisons. The United States Census Bureau also maintains information on populations, income, and economic indicators, which is very important for you to make decision of your new location.

Telecommunication service

Telecommunication plays an important role in our modern life, and provides access to invaluable news and other information you need. There are many high-speed internet service providers that offer high-speed Internet, digital TV and unlimited calling plans in the DC Metro area. These include, but are not limited to, Verizon, Comcast, Cox, dexknows, RCN Corporation, and daccess.

Transportation

One of the most common forms of public transportation is run by the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, commonly referred to as Metro, which provides both rail (Metrorail) and bus (Metrobus) service throughout the greater DC area.

Amtrak provides train services in DC and the surrounding area. The main station in DC is Union Station, located close to the Capitol and accessible via Metrorail and Metrobus. Commuter rail is also available via MARC, which provides rail service in the greater DC area, including Maryland and West Virginia. Virginia Railway Express also provides service to Virginia locations.

Buses are also available to take you out of the DC area. Greyhound and Peter Pan provide service into and out of DC and across the country. Both Virginia and Maryland also have their own local bus systems that sync up with the Metro systems.

Maryland

One of the main public transportation services in Montgomery County is Ride On transit. Ride On and MARC Train have joined together to make your commute easier with a FREE shuttle from the Kingsview Park & Ride Lot (Clopper Road and Kingsview Village Avenue) to the Germantown MARC Station.

Central Maryland Regional Transit \(CMRT\) manages public transit services in Howard County, Anne Arundel County, Prince George's County and the City of Laurel. It provides fixed route bus service in Clarksville, Columbia, Ellicott City, North Laurel, Savage and Elkridge. Service is also available to BWI Airport, selected MARC stations, and industrial parks along the US 1 corridor in Howard County. Most routes operate Monday through Saturday, and selected routes offer Sunday services.

TRIP is a one-stop website for all things transit in the Baltimore metropolitan region, providing a wealth of information on a wide range of transit services including a hotline for immediate assistance: 1- 877-331-TRIP (8747).

TransIT Services of Frederick County provides Public Transit, Paratransit and Commuter Services. Services include information about connector and shuttle routes; demand-response transportation for seniors and people with disabilities; Meet-the-MARC shuttle and trip-planning assistance; transportation alternatives such as regional mass transit, vanpooling, and telework.

Virginia

The Virginia Department of Transportation offers a number of resources for Northern Virginia Commuters on its Travel Center website. Such resources include the Virginia Railway Express, CommuterPage.com, and Commuter Connections. The website also discusses Rideshare solutions and traffic patterns.

If you are interested in riding your bike to work or around town, DC maintains a website regarding bicycle routes in the DC area, as does the Department of Transportation for the District.

Moving to Washington DC

There are a number of interesting and engaging things to see and do in the DC area, whether you live in the city itself or the surrounding area. Some websites that provide information on local activities are Explore DC, H-DC, Washington DC.org, and Cultural Tourism DC.

There are numerous locations for you to visit, including The Smithsonian Institute, The U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum, The National Archives, The Library of Congress, The National Library of Medicine, The Folger Shakespeare Library, and The National Mall.

Apart from museums and libraries, the major government seats of the Federal government are located in DC. These include The White House, The House of Representatives, The Senate, and The Supreme Court of the United States. For information on the embassies located in DC, visit the Embassy website. Maps of the area can be found at AboutDC.gov.

Animals and Pets

The Washington Humane Society provides information on donations and volunteering, as well as fostering and adopting pets. GoodDogz.org is a metro DC organization that supports dog rescue organizations and dog adopters by providing free resources for new pet owners. The Washington Animal Rescue League and Friends of Homeless Animals also provide options for adopting and volunteering.

Wildlife sanctuaries are located throughout the DC area. A list of these sanctuaries can be found at the Metropets website, along with information about local dog parks.

Banking

There are a number of both national and local banks serving the DC area. Some of these are listed below. However, this list is not inclusive and we encourage you to choose a bank that meets your financial needs. You can use the Yellow Pages or other online resources to find a complete listing of banks in the DC area.

Child Care

Information on early child care and education is provided by the Department of Education. Further information can be found at the Education Center website. The NIH also provides child care for its employees through the Office of Research Services but there is a long wait list; you may need to seek external sources for child care through a Google or Craigslist search. There are plenty of childcare centers near you.

The Office of Research Services Child Care website provides resources about NIH Sponsored Child Care Centers, NIH Back-up Care Program, NIH Child Care Subsidy Program, NIH Child Care Resource and Referral Services, NIH Dependant Care Resources and Referral Services, and information about other Federal Child Care Centers as well as Parenting Resources.

NIH Back-up Care Program: The National Institutes of Health has contracted with Bright Horizons to offer NIH employees access to back-up care when they need to be at work and their regular child or adult/elder care is unavailable.

NIH Child Care Subsidy Program: Federal Employees of the NIH may be eligible to receive a child care tuition subsidy if their children are enrolled in licensed child care programs and their total adjusted household income is $70,000 or less per year.

Courts

For information on the courts system of DC, as well as self-representation, marriage licenses, and job listings, please visit the District of Columbia Court website.

Customer Service Operations

The District of Columbia website provides information on services provided to DC residents by the Department of Public Works, Department of Transportation, and Department of Health. You can request anything from leaf collection to animal pick-up by calling the Mayor's Citywide Call Center at 311 or filling out a form (accessible via the website).

Dining

DC houses a wealth of international and specialty cuisines, both in the city and in the surrounding suburbs. You can browse the Washington Post restaurant section for information on the area's best restaurants, reviews, and for a live web discussion (Join the Post Critic) every Wednesdays at 11 a.m. Here are some other websites with information about and reviews of many of the local restaurants to help you find your favorite restaurant: Opentable.com, Dining Guide Washington DC, Active Diner, DC Pages Restaurant Guide, DC Registry Dining Guide, and DineSite.com.

Employment

For those seeking employment in the DC area, there are many websites to assist you in your search. The Washington Post lists many local job opportunities, as does DC Jobs.

For other similar employment websites, please visit the DC government website. A list of local employment agencies is provided by the DC government and can help you find employment in the metropolitan area.

Employment information within Washington DC is provided by the Department of Human Resources. Information for federal jobs can be found at DC Job Source, USAJobs, FedJobs, and GOVJOBS. The Department of Employment Services also provides job listings.

Farmers Markets

Farmers markets provide a venue for local farms and small businesses to sell their products in a centralized location. These markets can include anything from fresh fruit produce to cider, baked goods, handmade soaps and furniture. The Washington Post has compiled a list of local farmers markets, complete with websites, dates and times, and contact information. Generally farmers markets only operate in late spring, summer, and early fall. Contact individual markets for more details. FreshFarm Markets also provides information on Maryland and DC farmers markets.

Finding Housing

In addition to the Craigslist.com on finding housing, here are some websites and resources that might prove useful in finding acceptable housing:

Apartment Showcase

Homes Database

Washington City Paper: (focuses on housing to share)

The Washington Times

For information on housing credits, taxes, and so forth, the following websites may be of service:

DC Homeownership Opportunities

Homebuyers by DCHFA.org

Home Ownership by Mymoney.gov

Real Property Taxes

Rental Housing Commission

Tenant's Guide to Safe and Decent Housing

Many neighborhoods in the DC area maintain websites with information about local events, neighborhood statistics, shopping, restaurants, and so on. Another resource for information by neighborhood can be found on the Cultural Tourism website. DC Pages also provides information on many neighborhoods, as well as input from DC residents.

Local universities also provide housing information for their students that may prove useful to you in your housing search. Some of the universities with more helpful websites include:

American University

The Catholic University of America

The George Washington University

Georgetown University

Howard University

Healthcare and Hospitals

The Washingtonian magazine provides rankings of doctors in the greater DC area. This website provides information on not only family practitioners, but also specialists in a number of fields.

Your healthcare provider will be able to give you information about which hospitals and doctors are covered under your insurance. Listed are some of the major area hospitals. There are also medical facilities located in Montgomery County and in Virginia.

Children's National Medical Center
The George Washington University Hospital
Georgetown University Hospital Howard University Hospital
National Rehabilitation Hospital
Providence Hospital
Sibley Memorial Hospital
MedStar Washington Hospital Center

K-12 Education

The District of Columbia website provides multiple ways to search for and evaluate schools throughout the District. They provide school listings. General information, regulations, rules, and policies as well as student performance statistics can be found on there. The DCPS website also provides school profiles; you can search for schools by ward or keyword. The website also features a "compare schools" function that provides lists of schools with particular characteristics, including alternative and charter schools.

The Archdiocese of Washington maintains a list of Catholic schools in the area. The Association of Independent Schools of Greater Washington provides a list of independent schools, as well as a job bank and information on upcoming independent school events. The DC Public Charter School Board and the District of Columbia Public Schools also provide information on K-12 education.

Information on preschools, K-12 schools and post-secondary schools, as well as parental support resources, can be found at the District of Columbia's Education Center. Information on rules and regulations, types of schools, calendars, and so forth can be found at Education Center.

Libraries

For locations of libraries throughout the metropolitan area, please visit the DC Library website. The website also provides information on applying for a library card, checking out books, performing research and using library resources.

Newspapers

Newspapers in the area include the Washington Post and the Washington Times. These newspapers provide not only information about daily news, but also have sections on jobs, real estate, classified ads, and so forth. The Washingtonian is a monthly magazine providing news stories as well as ratings by DC area residents on restaurants, doctors, and schools, and information on events, travel, homes and other topics of interest.

Newspapers in DC specifically include the Washington City Paper, which provides information on music and entertainment and the Washington Business Journal.

Performing Arts

General information on performing arts in the DC area is provided by a number of sources, most prominently by the local papers. Information on particular events can also be found on the respective websites. Here are some major performing arts groups and venues in the area and their corresponding websites.

Arena Stage

Birchmere

Capitol Hill Arts Workshop

University of Maryland-Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center

Daughters of the American Revolution Constitution Hall

District of Columbia Arts Center Folklore Society of Greater Washington Fillmore DC

Ford's Theatre

Lisner Auditorium Kennedy Center National Theatre

Shakespeare Theater Company

Strathmore Studio Theatre Warner Theatre

Washington National Opera

Washington Performing Arts Society

Wolf Trap Foundation for the Performing Arts

Woolly Mammoth Theatre Company

Other popular music venues, both large and small, can be found at DC's Resident Resource Center.

Post-Secondary Education

For information on training opportunities, please visit the Training portion of the DC Government's Resident Resource Center. Some local universities also provide training and education in career development areas. For further information you can also directly contact local educational institutions.

There are a number of colleges and universities in the DC area. These include:

American University

Catholic University of America

Gallaudet University

George Washington University

Georgetown University

Howard University

University of the District of Columbia

Other schools in the DC metro area also offer 2-year, 4-year, graduate and professional education.

Recreation

The Department of Parks and Recreation provides information on parks in the DC area. There is also a National Arboretum and the National Park Service, as well as the National Zoo, which is located in Rock Creek Park. The DC Registry also provides information on recreation groups within the city.

The DC official tourism website provides information on many tourist destinations in the area. DC is also home to a number of museums and galleries. Sports are also a popular source of recreation. This includes participation in a league or team and attendance at professional sporting events. DC boasts professional teams playing hockey (The Capitals), men's soccer (DC United), women's basketball (Mystics), men's baseball (The Nationals), football (The Redskins) and men's basketball (The Wizards). Many local universities also have nationally ranked sports teams; contact the particular school or team for information and to see a schedule.

Local area sports leagues include The Amateur Softball Association, The DC Metro Senior and Adult Baseball League, Mid-Atlantic Volleyball, Neighborhood Athletic Association, Northwest Washington Little League, and The Onsports Soccer League.

There are likewise many local sports organizations. Among these are Bike Washington, Capital Rowing Club, DC Registry Sports Page, DC Road Runners, DC Ski, Kayak and Canoe Club, Washington Area Bicyclist Association. The NIH also sponsors its own Recreation and Welfare Association. This group provides discount recreation tickets and organizes events for the NIH community; membership is a nominal yearly fee.

Statistics and Safety

For information on local crimes statistics by neighborhood, as well as monthly and yearly crime statistics, visit the Metropolitan Police Department. You can also find your police district, or get more information about a particular district.

Emergency Information Center includes resources and important numbers , including numbers of the Department of Public Works, Poison Center and the Metropolitan Police Department .

Taxes

For information on DC taxes, including property, income, and business taxes, please visit the Office of Tax and Revenue. This website also provides information about earned income tax credits and tax rates and revenues. For information on Federal income taxes for individuals, please visit the IRS website. There is also online information for Federal business and small business taxes.

Utilities

For information on energy deregulation, visit the website compiled by the Washington Post.

Electricity is provided by Potomac Electric Power Company (PEPCO) and other companies such as Baltimore Gas and Electric Company and FirstEnergy Solutions. Gas is provided by companies including Washington DC Gas, Baltimore Gas and Electric Company, also Chesapeake Utilities. American Water services the DC area's water needs. Telephone services are provided by companies including Cox Communications, CenturyLink and Verizon. Some major cable providers include Comcast, Verizon and RCN. The Washington Post ISP directory has assembled a list of some of the many Internet providers in the DC area.

Sewer and public works are provided by the DC Sewer and Water Authority and the Department of Public Works, respectively. Information on recycling, including what is recyclable in DC, can be found at the Office of Recycling website.

This list is not necessarily inclusive. There may be other providers of these utilities in the area. Likewise, depending on where you live, certain companies may be required to provide you with particular services. Please bear that in mind as you choose your utility companies.

Vehicle Registration and Driver's Licenses

For information on obtaining license plates and a DC driver's license, or to register your vehicle, please visit the Department of Motor Vehicles website. They provide information on local outposts where you can take advantage of these services as well as information on vehicle inspections, towed vehicles, and obtaining parking permits. Upon moving to DC you only have 30 days to obtain a driver's license. Keep in mind that getting a license in DC might change your state of residency, which could have implications for residency decisions should you plan on attending a state college or university. Many places in DC also require you to register your car or get a parking permit for street parking. Because this varies based on where in DC you live, you can look into this in more detail when you decide upon a place of residence within the district.

Volunteering

DC maintains one of the largest volunteering networks of any major US metropolitan area. Visit the links below for access to some of the opportunities available to DC area residents:

DC Cares

ServeDC

DC Citizen Corps

Georgetown University Hospital: DC-Based Volunteer Opportunities

Global Youth Service Day

Professional Mentoring Programs

Volunteer Match

Moving to Maryland

Montgomery County

The Maryland Website provides a wealth of information on services provided to Maryland residents. It includes information on environmental issues, housing programs, veteran's affairs, camping and museums, resources for funding of higher education, and motor vehicle laws and restrictions, amongst other things. For these and other resources, or for information on other sources of information for you and your family as you move into the area, please visit their website.

Animals and Pets

Marylandpet.com provides is a comprehensive, on-line pet resource directory serving the residents of Maryland and adjacent areas of Delaware, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and Washington DC. The site offers easy to find information about all types of pet related businesses and services, both non-profit and for-profit, including animal shelters, animal rescue (birds, dogs, cats, horses, farm animals, pocket pets, reptiles and native wildlife) and adoption services, veterinary, pet rehabilitation and holistic animal health care services, pet stores and pet supply shops, pet grooming services, boarding kennels and pet resorts, dog walkers and daycare services, dog parks, pet sitters, pet friendly hotels and travel services, and much, much more! If you want to take a trip with your dog or cat, you also can find lists of pet friendly hotels, resorts and vacation rentals, as well as other pet friendly vacation resources. For a list of veterinarians, check your local phone directory or visit VetWeb.net.

Banking

There are a variety of different places to keep your money and get loans. Please look at the biggest and most popular. You can go to Bankrate.com to compare the rates of different Banks, and then find your best and favorite local bank. Banks in Maryland provides you with more detailed information regarding the location, on-line service and other service.

Childcare

Information on early childcare and education is provided by the Maryland State Department of Education. Montgomery County has a strong tradition of supporting high quality early care and education and parent support services to promote school readiness. Montgomery County Early Childhood Services provides a wide variety of programs for families and young children, and partners with many community-based agencies to create a comprehensive system of services. NIH Sponsor NIH Child Care Centers and Office of Research Services, Child Care website provides resources about NIH Back-up Care Program, NIH Child Care Subsidy Program, NIH Child Care Resource and Referral Services, NIH Dependant Care Resources and Referral Services, information about other Federal Child Care Centers as well as Parenting Resources.

NIH Back-up Care Program: The National Institutes of Health has contracted with Bright Horizons to offer NIH employees access to back-up care when they need to be at work and their regular child or adult/elder care is unavailable.

NIH Child Care Subsidy Program: Federal Employees of the NIH may be eligible to receive a child care tuition subsidy if their children are enrolled in licensed child care programs and their total adjusted household income is $70,000 or less per year.

Besides NIH Child Care Centers, you can find many reliable childcare centers around your living area. More information would be found in other websites, such as Childcare Services in Bethesda, MD on Yahoo! Local, Rockville Day Care Assoc. Inc, <http://www.mccaedu.org/>, etc.

Farmers Markets

If you are living Montgomery County, the Montgomery Countryside Alliance has set up many Farm Farmers Markets around you. Each week, the Farmers Markets provide different varieties of products as they come into season, including farm fresh fruits, vegetables, bedding plants, cut flowers, preserves, herbs, baked goods, and so on. Farmers markets also provide a venue for local farms and small businesses to sell their products in a centralized location. The Maryland Department of Agriculture and Department of Economic Development of Montgomery County have a complete list of location, time, and contact information at both the Maryland Farmers' Markets and Montgomery County Farmers' Markets

Finding Housing

In addition to the general housing websites mentioned elsewhere in this document, local universities often provide their students with resources for finding off-campus housing that might be useful to you. Some universities with especially helpful websites are Johns Hopkins University and University of Maryland. For information and statistics on cities within Maryland, including information on typical employment, crime ratings, and distance from other nearby cities, please visit City-Data.com. The state provides a brochure with information on the Homeowners Property Tax Credit. For previous sale information and current taxes on any particular home, visit the Maryland Department of Assessments and Taxation. Also, keep in mind that oral leases are legal in Maryland, but it is always wise to get your contract in writing.

Healthcare and Hospitals

The Washingtonian magazine provides rankings of doctors in the greater DC area. This website provides information on not only family practitioners, but also specialists in a number of fields.

There are also hospitals in DC and in Virginia, many of which have specialty areas, but this list includes many of the larger Montgomery County hospitals.

Adventist Healthcare
Holy Cross Hospital

Dimensions Healthcare Systems
MedStar Montgomery Medical Center
Walter Reed National Military Medical Center
Shade Grove Adventist Hospital
Suburban Hospital
Washington Adventist Hospital

K-12 Schools

Montgomery County Public Schools provide services for over 135,000 students in approximately 200 schools throughout the county. To enroll your student, call the school in your area, which can be determined on the website. To enroll a child for the first time you must bring the child's birth certificate, immunization records, Social Security number and proof of county residency. If the child has been in school before, bring his or her most recent report card from the previous school.

If you are interested in non-public schools, the Maryland State Board of Education provides a list of schools that hold a Certificate of Approval.

Libraries

Visit the Maryland Public Libraries website for locations of libraries throughout the state of Maryland. For further information on specific libraries, visit their individual websites of each county, like Montgomery County Library, Howard County Library, and Baltimore County Public Library. You can browse on-line which provides you with useful subject guides and electronic Resources. All the guides will help you find what you're looking for easily.

Newspapers

Newspapers in the area include the Washington Post and the Washington Times. These newspapers provide not only a source of information about daily news, but also have sections on jobs, real estate, classified ads, items available for purchase, and so forth. The Washingtonian is a monthly magazine providing news stories as well as ratings by DC area residents on restaurants, doctors, and schools, as well as information on events, travel, homes and other topics of interest.

Performing Arts

Montgomery County, and especially Bethesda, houses a large number of independent and community theaters. Some of these are specifically for children or summer theater but many have performances throughout the year. The following list is not inclusive but names some of the major venues and companies:

Adventure Theatre at Glen Echo Park
American Film Institute
Arts in Rockville
BlackRock Center for the Arts
F. Scott Fitzgerald Theater

Gildenhorn/Speisman Center at JCCGW
Imagination Stage
InterAct Story Theatre
Montgomery County Performing Arts Society
The Montgomery County Playhouse
The National Philharmonic at Strathmore
Olney Theatre Center
The Puppet Company Playhouse at Glen Echo Park
Quotidian Theatre Company
Robert E. Parilla Performing Arts Center
Round House Theatre
Shaker Forest Festival
Silver Spring Stage
Soul in Motion Players
Strathmore
Victorian Lyric Opera Company
Wildwood Summer Theatre

Post Secondary Schools

Montgomery College has locations in Germantown, Rockville, and Takoma Park and provides post-secondary classes and degrees in a number of different fields. Johns Hopkins maintains a Montgomery County Campus that offers more than 40 part-time graduate professional degrees and certificates. They offer evening and weekend classes and labs as well as a full-service library. The University of Maryland at Shady Grove also provides classes and educational services.

For more information on education throughout Maryland, visit the Maryland State Department of Education.

Statistics and Safety

For crime statistics within Montgomery County, please visit the Department of Police website. Here you will find information on crimes, types of crimes committed, and the areas where they were committed. This is broken down by city and by area Stay connected with Montgomery Parks through online and social media tools like Facebook, Twitter, YouTube and more. You can find many wonderful Montgomery County Recreation programs and Montgomery County Parks programs. It is very useful to find the program guide, and event calendar, along with several other ways to connect and communicate with M-NCPPC Montgomery Parks.

Recreation

The Montgomery County Department of Parks provides park maps, facilities, and trails as well as the option to register online for classes and programs. The Recreation Department includes information on community recreation centers, aquatic centers and programs, classes, sports, summer camps and more. The Montgomery County Golf includes information on golf courses in the area. For information on use of public facilities, including ball fields, please visit the Montgomery County CUPF \(Community Use of Public Facilities\) website.

Taxes

Maryland State Tax information is available from the Comptroller of Maryland. The Internet also provides information on assessment and taxation. Federal income tax information can be found at the Internal Revenue Service website.

Transportation

Public transportation in Montgomery County is largely serviced by Washington Metro Area Transit Authority, which provides bus and subway services throughout the DC Metro Area. Montgomery County also provides its own resources for commuting, carpooling, and public transit, and also maintains the Ride On bus system, which is an extension of the WMATA resources. CommuterPage.com also provides information on suburbs of Washington DC area transportation resources.

For information on bike trails within Montgomery County, the Bikeways has a series of maps with bicycling paths, and the Montgomery County Bicycle Map Project is also working on developing inclusive maps of bicycle routes throughout the county.

MCDOT (Montgomery County Department of Transportation) provides a county-wide bus rapid transit (BRT) service. Ride On Routes and Schedules can be found easily in this link.

Vehicle Registration and Driver's Licenses

The Motor Vehicle Association provides information on getting tags, title, registration, and driver's licenses for you, your family, and your car. All vehicles must pass the state Vehicle Emissions Inspection Program. Their website also provides hours and locations of offices. You can also ask for information on car seat laws and obtaining licenses for new drivers. Keep in mind that you are expected to obtain a Maryland state license within 60 days of moving to the state. Also, obtaining a driver's license in a new state might have implications for residency, should you be planning to attend a state college or university.

For public safety resources put out by Montgomery County, including information on car seats, carbon monoxide detectors, pool safety, and other household safety information, please visit the Montgomery County website.

Utilities

Some types of utilities have multiple providers, whereas some do not. For a complete list of utility companies, access the Maryland Public Service Commission's utility listing. Keep in mind that the list provided here is not necessarily inclusive and is subject to change.

Electricity in the area is generally provided either by FirstEnergy or Potomac Electric Power Company (PEPCO). Depending on where you are located, other companies such as Baltimore Gas and Electric may provide your services. For information on electricity deregulation, visit the Montgomery County website. Gas is provided by Washington Gas, Baltimore Gas and Electric, Chesapeake, or a number of other companies listed here; you may also buy natural gas from natural gas suppliers. Water and sewer service is taken care of by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. For a list of telephone providers please see the Maryland Public Service Commissions' utility listing. The major providers of cable television and high speed Internet are Comcast, RCN, and Verizon.

Montgomery County, Division of Solid Waste Service provides recycling pickup once a week for single-family homes and townhomes. If you live in an apartment, contact your property manager for information on recycling.

Trash collection varies in different areas of Montgomery County. In some southern areas it is collected via independent companies. These collection fees are included in your property tax bill and collection occurs once a week on the same day as recycling pickup. In the rest of the county, residents contract with and pay independent trash collection companies. You can look under "Rubbish and Garbage Removal" in the phone book or online for names of companies. Remember to pay your hauler only for collection services. The disposal charge is included in your property tax bill. To find out which area you live in, visit the Montgomery County, Solid waste charge website.

For further information about trash collection and recycling in Montgomery County, please visit their website.

Volunteering

In addition to volunteer opportunities sponsored by local places of worship and non-profit organizations, Montgomery County sponsors volunteer opportunities within the Fire & Rescue Service, Recreation, Victim Assistance and Sexual Assault Program and Police Department, to name a few. Please visit the Montgomery County website for more information on volunteer options.

Frederick

Frederick County maintains a tourism website with further information about shopping, dining, and attractions in the area. The city of Frederick also maintains a website with information on everything from taxes to parking tickets.

Animals and Pets

The Animal Control Division and Shelter provides shelter to and adoption services for homeless animals and works to prevent animal cruelty and abuse. The Frederick County Humane Society also provides services for abandoned pets and facilitates adoptions.

Banking

In addition to some of the national banks that service the Frederick area, there are also regional and local banks that are available for your financial needs. Here are some financial institutions that may help you transition to the Frederick area (Banks in Frederick, MD), including Bank of America , BB & T , Frederic County Bank, M&T Bank, PNC Bank, SunTrust Bank , Wells Fargo, Woodsboro Bank.

Childcare

The Maryland Family Network provides resources on finding licensed childcare and out of school activities for children of all ages. Frederick.com also provides resources for finding local childcare.

Employment

Some websites providing employment information specific to the Frederick County areas include Frederick County Workforce Services, the Frederick County government, and The Frederick News Post online. The last resource is the newspaper for the Frederick area.

Finding Housing

In addition to the general housing information \(Page 5\) provided at the beginning of this document, Frederick County has a Housing and Community Development team committed to providing housing for all residents, especially low income and special needs populations. Some websites, such as HomeGain.com and Frederick Home Finder, may be able to help you locate a home in the area.

Healthcare and Hospitals

Frederick Memorial Hospital is the local hospital in Frederick. The website provides information on services and the hospital as well as a service that allows you to search for doctors in your area. Advanced Urgent Care of Frederick also provides medical services.

K-12 Education

Frederick County Public Schools maintain information on how to enroll your child as well as information on schools, their policies and calendars, and transportation to and from schools. Private School Review, Frederick.com, the local school directory and Private Schools Report all provide information on private schooling in Frederick County.

Libraries

Information on the Frederick County Public Libraries, including their locations, hours, and catalog listing, can be found on their website.

Newspapers

The Frederick-News Post is the main newspaper for the Frederick County area. Their website provides information on regional activities and hosts classified ads for jobs, housing, and so forth. Gazette.Net and the Washington Post also report on this region.

Performing Arts

The Weinberg Center for the Arts provides performing arts services to the community. Their website features an online calendar and the option to buy tickets via the Internet. The Delaplaine Visual Arts Education Center provides classes for children and adults and also features exhibits throughout the year. Celebrate Frederick also provides information about local activities and events.

Post-Secondary Education

The following schools are located in or near Frederick and can provide both college and university level education:

Frederick Community College

Frostburg State University

Hood College

Mount St. Mary's University

Recreation

The Frederick Keys are a local class A baseball team and are the Class A affiliate of the Baltimore Orioles. The Recreation Department provides information on recreation centers and nature centers as well as opportunities to volunteer. The Parks Department provides similar information including information on ball fields and a map of county parks.

Statistics and Safety

For crime statistics in Frederick, please visit the Frederick County website. The Baltimore Sun also put out rankings of the safety of many Maryland cities; this information can be found on their website. CityRating.com also provides ratings of city safeness as determined by general crime reports.

Transportation

Public Parking is handled by the Department of Parking. In addition to operating parking garages and meters, they also oversee the resident parking program, handle handicapped parking, and distribute “no parking” signs for weddings, funerals, and so forth.

In addition to airports in the DC metropolitan area, Frederick boasts its own municipal airport. Information on this airport, as well as requirements for maintaining your own plane at this airport, is available at their website.

You will find Connector and Shuttle bus schedules for Frederick County, as well as regional transportation options, including schedules, fares, and a system map by visiting the Frederick County TransIT official website.

Utilities

For water and sewer information, please visit the Department of Public Works website. Further information can be found at the Utilities and Solid Waste Management website.

Refuse and recycling services are provided either by Frederick City or by Frederick County, depending on the service provided. For a list of services rendered, as well as which entity is responsible for these services, please visit the Frederick County website. Guidelines for residential solid waste services can be found on the website.

Information on recycling can be found via the Frederick County Government website. This website contains information on curbside and satellite recycling as well as information on recycling of unusual substances such as motor oil, grass, pesticide containers and Christmas trees.

Companies that provide utilities such as, electricity, gas and water to Frederick County are listed on Frederick County website. Check the Maryland Office of People's Council website to determine what company offers service in your area.

Volunteering

Food banks and soup kitchens welcome volunteers. The Frederick Community Action Agency maintains a list of programs. You can also contact local places of worship and non-profit organizations for further information about volunteer opportunities. More volunteer opportunities can be found on the websites such as, Frederick Community, Volunteer match and Frederick County-Department of Aging.

Baltimore

There are both urban and suburban residential areas in the Baltimore area. Baltimore City is largely urban and is at the center of the Baltimore region. Baltimore County includes the surrounding area and is larger than Baltimore city proper. Nearby counties include Anne Arundel, Carroll, Harford, and Howard. There are pros and cons to both living arrangements. Many of the city's resources, including attractions, private schools, universities, hospitals, dining and nightlife, are nearby if you live in the city. Such residents also tend to have shorter commutes and a larger selection of housing types as well as more public transportation options. However, homes in Baltimore City tend to be smaller, older, and may not have yards. Parking can be more difficult, and crime and poverty rates are higher. Suburban homes tend to be newer and larger, the neighborhoods are generally safer, public schools tend to have better standardized test scores than urban schools, and the homes are generally more convenient to larger shopping centers. However, suburban areas tend to have longer commutes, with traffic and congestion issues, and there is less variety in stores and restaurants than in the city.

Whatever you choose, we have provided some basic information on resources in the area and where to find help in pursuing your housing options. The Live in Baltimore website provides information on renting and buying homes, neighborhoods within the Baltimore area, and housing incentive and loan programs. Further information on Baltimore county, including business and human services, transportation, and public safety, can be found at the Baltimore County website.

Local universities also often offer information to their students about finding housing in the area. Some of the universities with especially helpful websites that may be of use to you in your housing search include the Maryland Institute College of Art, Towson University and the University of Baltimore.

Multiple websites provide information on local events within the greater Baltimore area. These websites often provide calendars, maps, and ticket information for the many events occurring throughout the year. Here are some websites to help you locate such events:

Baltimore Area Convention and Visitors Association

Baltimore City Paper Online

Baltimore Office and Promotion of the Arts

The Baltimore Sun Online

Animals and Pets

The Baltimore county Department of Health \(Animal Control\) provides information on laws and regulations governing pet ownership and licenses, as well as adoptions and volunteering. Adoption and volunteer information is also provided by the Maryland Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Baltimore Animal Rescue and Care Shelter.

Banking

In addition to some of the national banks that service the Baltimore area, there are also regional and local banks that are available for your financial needs. Here is a list of some financial institutions that may help you make your transition to the Baltimore area: 1st Mariner Bank, M&T Bank, Baltimore County Savings Bank, Bank of America, Chesapeake Bank, Harbor Bank of Maryland, The Johns Hopkins Federal Credit Union, Mercantile Bankshares Corporation, SunTrust Bank, and Wells Fargo

Childcare

The Baltimore County Public Library system offers information on childcare and development, especially as it pertains to literacy. They also maintain information on local libraries and their programs for children as well as choosing good quality childcare. The Maryland Family Network provides information and technical assistance regarding all aspects of starting, expanding, and operating a childcare center or family childcare home.

Employment

Some resources for employment specific to the Baltimore area include the City of Baltimore, classified listings in the Baltimore Sun, the Mayor's Office of Employment Development and The Employment Guide.

Finding Housing

General housing information is provided in the first section of this guide. The Baltimore Sun Classified Ads allow you to search by county, price, or housing type. This is the largest newspaper in Maryland and can provide you access to a variety of resources. Websites such as Apartments.com and Baltimore Sublet can also provide information on apartments and temporary housing.

If you are looking to buy a home in the area, the Baltimore Sun classified ads will again prove useful. Baltimore County Settlement Expense Loan Program \(SELP\) and Community Development Block Grant \(CDBG\)'s first time homebuyer program is designed to assist first time home buyers. Some areas of Baltimore County also offer discounts to first-time home buyers. Please visit the website to see if you qualify.

Hospitals and Healthcare

Along with providing medical services, these hospitals may be able to provide you with names of physicians and specialists in your area:

MedStar Franklin Square Medical Center
Greater Baltimore Medical Center
MedStar Harbor Hospital
The Johns Hopkins Hospital

Mercy Medical Center
St. Agnes Hospital
University of Maryland St. Joseph Medical Center
Sinai Hospital
Northwest Hospital
MedStar Union Memorial Hospital
University of Maryland Medical Center

K-12 Schools

If you are planning on enrolling and registering your child in a Baltimore School, the Baltimore City Public Schools maintain a website where you can find information on which school district you reside in. If you want to pursue education options outside of your zoned area, you will need a Student Transfer Application. These options include charter schools, many of which have a different curriculum than the city schools. Each of these schools also has a different admission process. Children in K-8 are expected to attend their zone school though you can transfer to out-of-zone schools. For grades 9-12, there are Baltimore City High Schools without entrance criteria in addition to zoned schools and schools with entrance criteria. Any student can apply to the schools without criteria or remain in their zoned school. The Maryland State Department of Education also provides information on testing results from public schools.

To register your child you will need to contact the school and make an appointment. The school will tell you which documents you need to bring but it will likely include a proof of address, birth certificate, immunization record, and recent report card. The local departments of education can also provide further information on schools in the area and registering and enrolling your child.

For those living outside Baltimore City but still in Baltimore County, visit the county website for information on registering your student, schools in your area, and regulations and restrictions concerning zoning and charter schools. If you wish to enroll your child in non-public (including private) schooling in Baltimore County, the Maryland State Board of Education maintains a list of the approved schools. You can visit their website for a list of non-public schools and from there navigate specifically to private or publicly funded special schools.

There are also many private schools in the Baltimore area. This list is by no means inclusive and we encourage you to pursue other institutions, as you desire.

Markets

Baltimore has a long history of markets providing everything from fresh and prepared foods to tourist attractions and cultural events. Visit the individual web pages for information on what specific products and services each market provides, as well as their times and locations. The markets include Avenue Market, Broadway Market, Cross Street Market, Hollins Market, Lexington Market, and Northeast Market.

Newspapers

Area newspapers include the Baltimore Sun, Baltimore Business Journal, Baltimore Times, and the Baltimore City Paper.

Performing Arts

The Baltimore area houses multiple theaters in addition to the performing arts resources provided by the DC metro area. There are also a number of theaters at local universities, but these are some of the other companies that perform in the area:

The Audrey Herman Spotlighters Theatre
Baltimore Actors' Theatre
Baltimore School for the Arts
Baltimore Symphony Orchestra
CENTERSTAGE
Everyman Theatre
Fell's Point Corner Theatre
The France-Merrick Performing Arts Center – The Hippodrome Theatre
Patricia & Arthur Modell Performing Arts Center at The Lyric
Round House Theatre

Post-Secondary Education

The following schools are located in or near Baltimore and provide either or both college- and university-level education. This list is by no means inclusive but provides a starting point for locating advanced educational resources within the area.

Baltimore City Community College
Baltimore Hebrew Institute at Towson University
Community College of Baltimore County
Coppin State University
The Johns Hopkins University
Loyola University of Maryland
Maryland Institute College of Art
Morgan State University
Notre Dame of Maryland University
Stratford University
Towson University
University of Baltimore
University of Maryland, Baltimore
University of Maryland School of Medicine

Recreation

The city of Baltimore provides resources for entertainment throughout the city proper, including information on the Department of Recreation and Parks. The portal to Maryland also provides information on restaurants and travel within the Baltimore area, as does the Baltimore County website. Other sources of entertainment in the area include National Aquarium, the Maryland Zoo in Baltimore, the Maryland Film Festival, and Fort McHenry National Park.

Statistics and Safety

For crime statistics in Baltimore, please visit the Baltimore Police Department, CityRating.com and FedStats also provide information on crimes committed and areas they were committed in within the greater Baltimore area.

Transportation

The Maryland Transit Administration oversees the main means of public transportation in the state of Maryland. They provide services including: Metro , which services the greater DC area via a series of subways, buses, and shuttles; Light Rail; MARC train, which has routes from Baltimore to Washington DC, as well as servicing two other lines; and other services. Visit the Maryland Transit Administration for more information.

If you are interested in bicycling in the Baltimore Area, the Baltimore Bicycling Club provides information routes, maps, and local biking events.

Utilities

Some types of utilities have multiple providers, whereas some do not. For a complete list of utility companies, and for a listing of companies providing telephone service, please see the Maryland Public Service Commission's utility listing.

Electricity and gas are provided by multiple companies, including FirstEnergy, Potomac Electric Power Company (PEPCO) and Baltimore Gas and Electric. For information on electricity deregulation, visit the Maryland Attorney General website. Water and sewer service is provided by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

Volunteering

Individual groups, including non-profits, hospitals, and places of worship, often maintain their own listings of volunteer opportunities. Some websites that also provide such information include:

Baltimore County
BVU's Volunteer Center
Live Baltimore
The Maryland Zoo in Baltimore
Volunteer Firemen's Association

Volunteer Match

Moving to Virginia

Northern Virginia consists of several counties and independent cities in the Commonwealth of Virginia, in a widespread region generally radiating southerly and westward from Washington, D.C. With 2.6 million residents (about a third of the state), it is the most populous region of Virginia and the Washington Metropolitan Area.

Generally people who commute into DC from Virginia live in either Fairfax County or Arlington County. Both are close to the Beltway and public transportation and still have their own independent economies. Most information presented in this section relates to living in either of these counties.

Animals and Pets

There are a number of resources to adopt a pet in the Northern Virginia area. These include Friends of Homeless Animals, which also services the greater DC area, the Humane Society of Fairfax County, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Northern Virginia.

To get a license for your pet, you must vaccinate it against rabies. Keep in mind that the Arlington County Code prohibits more than three dogs per household unless approved by the zoning administration and you obtain a kennel license. For more information on these and other regulations, including instructions for obtaining a license, please visit the Arlington County website.

Banking

There are a number of both national and local banks serving Virginia. Some of these are listed below. However, this list is not inclusive and we encourage you to choose a bank that meets your financial needs. You can use the Yellow Pages or other online resources to find a complete listing of Virginia banks.

Access National Bank

Alliance Bank

Bank of America

BB&T Bank

Cardinal Bank

HSBC

Navy Federal Credit Union

PNC Bank

SunTrust Bank

United Bank

Virginia Commerce Bank

Wells Fargo Bank

Childcare

The Virginia Department of Social Services provides information on, and a search engine for, licensed childcare throughout the state. Other sites with similar information include DayCareVirginia.com, Child Care Central for Fairfax County, Private School Review, and the Fairfax County Website for Schools and Training.

Employment

For information on finding employment information specific to Virginia, your local newspaper and CareerConnect, Virginia Employment Commission, and Virginia Jobs may prove good resources.

Farmers' Markets

Farmers' markets provide a venue for local farms and small businesses to sell their products in a centralized location. These markets can include anything from fresh fruit and produce to cider to baked goods to handmade soaps and furniture. For information on farmers markets in Fairfax County, please visit the county website. This site includes hours, locations, and contact information. Arlington County also offers a farmers' market website with information on seasonal items, recipes, and producers, in addition to hours and directions of the market.

Finding Housing

In addition to the general information \(Page 5\) provided in the first section of this guide, there are multiple websites developed by realty associations and other organizations that you may find relevant for securing housing in northern Virginia. These include the Housing and Community Services of Northern Virginia, Northern Virginia Real Estate, American Home Guides, Washington Metro Builders' Realty Council, and the Northern Virginia Association of Realtors.

Healthcare and Hospitals

The Washingtonian magazine provides rankings of doctors in the greater DC area. This website provides information on not only family practitioners, but also specialists in a number of fields.

There are a number of hospitals serving the DC metro area; major hospitals in Virginia include Fairfax Surgical Center, Inova Health System, and the Virginia Hospital Center. Please contact your health care provider to find out if these hospitals are supported by your health insurance.

K-12 Education

The Virginia Department of Education provides information on public schooling throughout the state of Virginia, including finding a school within your division. Some of the private schools in the Virginia portion of the greater DC metro area are also listed online.

Libraries

Hours, locations, and directions to libraries in Fairfax county and Arlington county can be found on their respective websites.

Newspapers

Some of the newspapers specific to the Virginia area include Sun Gazette, the Connection and the Alexandria Times. A list of Virginia newspapers provided is by US Newspaper List.

Performing Arts

The DC area is home to a wide variety of independent and community theaters. Many are also located in Virginia, including some historic venues. The following list is not inclusive but names some of the major venues and companies:

American Music Stage
Center for the Arts
Elden Street Players
Fairfax Symphony Orchestra
McLean Community Center
Patriot Center at George Mason University
Reston Community Players
Richard J. Ernst Community Cultural Center
Theater of the First Amendment
Wolf Trap

Post-secondary Education

Virginia is home to many educational institutions, some of which are the oldest in the country. A list of some of the ones that are closest to the DC metro area is provided below, but there are many more places to continue your education throughout the state.

The College of William & Mary
George Mason University
Hampton University
Marymount University
Norfolk State University
The University of Northern Virginia
University of Virginia
Virginia State University
Northern Virginia Community College
The Commonwealth Graduate Engineering Program \(CGEP\)
Virginia Tech-Northern Virginia Center

Recreation

Northern Virginia Regional Park Authority provides information about regional parks featuring golf courses, swimming pools and hiking trails. Fairfax county and Arlington county websites provides resources for recreation around area. The following is a list of some of the major parks and entertainment venues within northern Virginia. This list is by no means inclusive but provides a good starting point for your search, especially regarding local parks. DC and Maryland also have a number of recreational areas, as does West Virginia.

FCPA Golf Courses
George Washington Memorial Parkway
Great Falls Park
Greater Reston Arts Center
Green Spring Gardens
Huntley Meadows Park
Lakefront Parks
Mason Neck State Park
McLean Project for the Arts
Penderbrook Golf Club
Pleasant Valley Golf Club
Vienna Arts Society Gallery
Westfields Golf Club

Statistics and Safety

For statistics on larger Virginia cities, including jobs, home sales, crime rates, and so forth, city-data.com provides a recently compiled list of this information. Individual cities and counties often provide such information on websites for their law enforcement personnel.

Taxes

Information in Virginia state taxes can be found on the Department of Taxation website. Federal income tax information can be found at the Internal Revenue Service website.

Transportation

The Virginia Department of Transportation offers a number of resources for Northern Virginia Commuters on its Travel Center website. Such resources include the Virginia Railway Express, CommuterPage.com, and Commuter Connections. The website also discusses Rideshare solutions and traffic patterns.

There are a lot of bus service provided within northern Virginia, such as the Alexandria Transit Company - DASH \(Alexandria\), Arlington Transit - ART, City of Fairfax CUE Bus System, Fairfax Connector, Loudoun County Commuter Bus, and OmniRide \(Northern Virginia\). You can find many information regarding the bus route, schedule and special service.

Washington Metro Area Transit Authority also reaches into areas of northern Virginia, providing bus and metro service for commuters and residents. More information, including routes and schedules, can be found on their website.

For those who wish to bike in the Virginia area, Arlington County provides several bicycling maps. Fairfax County likewise provides bicycling information and maps.

Utilities

Utility information for Arlington County:

Cable companies include Comcast of Arlington, Cox Communications and Verizon. Electricity is provided by Dominion Virginia Power, Northern Virginia Electric Cooperative, and Appalachian Power, among others. Washington Gas, Columbia Gas of Virginia, and Virginia Natural Gas, among other companies, supply natural gas to your home. Phone service is provided by multiple companies, including Verizon, AT&T, and Cox Communications. For trash, recycling, sewer and water services, contact the Arlington County Environmental Services Office.

Utility information in Fairfax County:

Electric companies include Dominion Virginia Power and Northern Virginia Electric Cooperative. These companies also maintain streetlights in the county. Gas services are generally provided by Washington Gas but check the Public Works & Utilities website for more information. Telephone, cable, and internet service is provided by Comcast of Virginia, Cox Communications, and Verizon Virginia, among other companies. Most water services in Fairfax county are provided by Fairfax Water; however, some places may fall under other jurisdictions, which are listed on the Fairfax County website. Trash and recycling information can likewise be found on the county's website.

For more information, visit the Public Works & Utilities website.

Vehicle Registration and Driver's Licenses

Information on registering your car in Virginia, as well as obtaining your driver's license, can be found at the Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles web site. You have 60 days from moving to the state to register your car and get a driver's license. Also, obtaining a driver's license in a new state might have implications for residency, should you be planning to attend a state college or university. If you live in Arlington County, you will also have to register your car with the county. Basic information, including a list of FAQ, is provided here.

Volunteering

Virginia Service website provides information on community and citizen participation. Arlington County and Frederic County also provide websites with such information. In addition to these websites, many places of worship and local charities also sponsor events and are always searching for willing volunteers.

Voting

For information on voting in Virginia, check out the Virginia State Board of Elections website. This provides information on registering to vote, information the candidates and elections, and how to go about absentee voting.

Updated 12/12
For comments regarding this document, please contact Dr. Patricia Sokolove at sokolovp@mail.nih.gov.